STOCK MARKET ON STAGNANT; BLAME LAYED ON TARIFF

DEAN ROSCOE POUND, of Harvard Law School, says "Crime is no longer a local affair." Crime organizations, according to the dean, spread over many states.

The main business of government formerly was to provide against foreign attack. Now the dangerous enemy is the criminal at home.

If it be true that gross receipts of criminals in Chicago alone amount to more than $300,000,000 a year the United States Treasury certainly has a rival.

While the government and tariff makers are "relieving the farmers," commission men in New York last week were refusing many carloads of vegetables, because they were not worth the cost of the freight.

Farmers of Virginia, Florida, California, North and South Carolina, were the chief sufferers.

You can buy in one southern state excellent land for $5 an acre that formerly sold for $125 an acre. One young New Yorker recently bought a few thousand acres of it, for quiet shooting.

Another is accumulating 200,000 acres of that land, which he must "come back" sometime.

At Lawrenceville school graduation exercises, Senator Wallace, of Connecticut, a Lawrenceville graduate, told the boys "the only way to save our country as the leading nation of the world is by educating leaders to steer the ship of state."

Abraham Lincoln was an exception to that rule.

The senator said also, "Learning gives a man in one year what otherwise takes 20 years to acquire."

Again, you reflect that Shakespeare, within 30 years of the average college graduating age, did some things that few could learn in one year.

It is dangerous to give boys too high an idea of their education and themselves. It sometimes takes about 10 years to knock university conceit out of a boy, and make him useful.

Walter Damrosch, whose admirable concerts contributed to the radio by the General Electric Co., reader great public admiration, is inhumanities in the tracks when he says "the radio will save family life from the disruption by the automobile."

Instead of disrupting family life the automobile enables the family out of doors, at the radio into it indoors.

A machine that enables the people to conquer the enervating law of gravitation, making it possible for the family to be united and happy out of doors, in the fresh air, is the greatest invention since the wheel, and it is being used to keep families together.

You might as well say, "Breakfast disrupts family life."

Wise are the British. Deserving citizens are made happy with little, that cost nothing, and deliciously happy by giving them a garden to put around one's house and use for one's children. Such happiness is for the upper ten.

Wise are the British. Deserving citizens are made happy with little, that cost nothing, and deliciously happy by giving them a garden to put around one's house and use for one's children. Such happiness is for the upper ten.

The lower ten thousand are made happy in a day or two. When the Prince of Wales takes his fatherly place, sitting on the garden screen, he rides to the throne from the palace in a magnificent jeweled carriage. Oxen colored horses drag it slowly through the streets. A servant rides on the back of each horse. There are servants sitting up in front, more servants in the rear.

The young prince, who carries little for show, proudly smiles cynically as he steps into the carriage, and is allowed to hold a hippopotamus. After the ten thousand have seen it pass they say to themselves, "What a REAL king, a REAL price. And they too, are happy. That carriage, paid for long ago, costs nothing."

Senator Howell, of Nebraska, very dry, learning with grief that the British emperor had received liquor and wine from Europe, protests that foreign diplomats should not be allowed to import alcoholic drinks.

He said the only senator feel if he were sent as ambassador to France, for instance, where nobody drinks ice water, and he were not allowed to have any ice water?

We must make allowances for semibarbaric foreigners that do not take things with their heads of white whiskers and white pants.

She says the white whiskers and pants give the cat's owners good luck. In 1930, that means good luck.

Boston University's 57th annual commencement exercises were conducted at the Boston Arena today, 12 honorary degrees and 1485 degrees in course being awarded.

Recipients of honorary degrees were as follows: Dr. L. A. Anderson of Brookline, who received the doctor of laws honor. The 31 most famous included John R. B. Smith, president of the American Association of Commerce, who at 33 years ago first introduced to Boston a system of commercial education and a system of short-hand which President Daniel L. Johnson had developed "conspicuous with the spirit of writing to revolutionize the economic outlook."

BISHOPS HONORED
The other honorary degrees were awarded as follows:
Doctor of science—Professor Emeritus Horace Peckard of Boston University and David Washburn Wells of Boston.
Doctor of letters—Bishop William Franklin Anderson of Boston, L. M. Burke of Boston, and President Charles H. Smith of the University of Indiana.
Doctor of laws—Ray. Herbert John Gureghian, M. Vernon, Jr., Associate Justice John Dwyer of Maine.

LIGHT VOTE IS CAST IN MAINE
Portland, Me., June 16 (AP)—A light vote was indicated in today's primary. Reports show only 500 "quiet" in cities as well as rural communities. In Portland only 500 had voted up to noon, whereas 2000 had appeared at that time in the last year.

BY JOHN T. LAMBERT
Portland, Me., June 16—The vote of Maine started for the polls today with shifting trends of sentiment which utterly bewildered the manipulators who operate the Republican State machine.

When the time came they will have nominated the candidates for United States senator, governor, for Congress, both House of Representatives, and a veritable army of county office holders.

The dramatic and mystifying contest developed almost solely within the Republican party, where the

MANY ISSUES AT LOWEST LEVELS OF YEAR

Senator Walsh of Bay State Lays Drop in Prices to the Newly-Adopted Schedule

New York, June 16 (INS)—Swept downward by a heavy selling wave today, speculative stocks in all sections of the market declined to the lowest levels of the year.

This stock market as a whole derived little comfort from the statement of the President and others with respect to the "beneficial" effect of the tariff on business. Wall Street does not view the situation in the light, and sold stocks by the bushel today in order to take advantage of what it believed to be a further fall in security values.

Losses sustained by the well-known stocks today ranged from 2 to 8 points. A few high-priced issues recorded larger recissions.

United States Steel broke under 100 for the first time this year, but received some support around that level.

The bears were evidently in no hurry to cover up on stocks which have showed conspicuous weakness, and unmercifully hammered International Tel. and Vanadium, Westinghouse and other leaders in the ill-fated March-April rally.

The volume of transactions of the big board was well in excess of 5,000,000 shares.

Complete weakness in the utility stocks and rails, or when there are extensive holdings among the small investors all over the country, unsettled the market in the final period and blocked the rally which appeared to be in progress in other sections of the market.

The close was heavy.

Walsh Lays Stock Price Crash to New Tariff

Washington, June 16 (INS)—The new tariff bill, now before President Hoover for his signature, was held responsible for the drop in prices of the New York stock market today by Senator Charles Walsh of Massachusetts and Blaine (R), Senator Harrison (D) Mississippi, another opponent of the measure, during a statement later.

Walsh said:

"I am not surprised, scarcely by an important or large industry or financial concern in the country favors the tariff bill now before the President. They have been unreasonably in their opinion it would be injurious to the country."

Blaine said:

"I am not surprised at this. This is a monetary issue. The tariff bill becomes effective at midnight the day the President signs it."

PICNIC COOKIES
1 cup white shortening
1½ cups sugar
3 beaten eggs
3 tbsps. molasses
2 cups steamed, chopped figs
1½ cups chopped nuts.
¾ cups flour
1 tsp. soda.
1 tsp. clove
1 tsp. cinnamon.

1 tbap, grated lemon rind
Cream shortening. Add eggs and molasses. Add figs and lemon rind. Sift all dry ingredients together. Bake in 8 inch pie pan for 20 minutes on greased sheet. Drop by spoonfuls on greased sheet and bake in moderate oven 375 F. about 20 minutes.

UNCOOKED MAYONNAISE
1 can sweet condensed milk.
1 cup vinegar, not too strong.
1 tsp. salt and mustard.
2 eggs.
Beat salt, mustard and eggs together. Pour the milk on from the can. Beat with egg beater for a few minutes. Keep in fruit jar and use for salads, or cabbage slaw. Cabbage slaw, by the way, made from cabbage cut fine and mixed with a can of sliced pineapple, drained is delicious.

Horse Races at Brookline

SAFETY NOT TO BE FORGOTTEN

Steeplechasing again features the program of races at The Country Club, Brookline, tomorrow.

Eastern Horse Club officials announced today that East Bunde would be able to appear at the second meeting at Ciro Park tomorrow afternoon.

Head, Joe Gallo Fox to three brilliant victories this season, was killed in the sixth. Price Wreck in New York last week and is not in condition to ride.

Bunde will show two Wrecks at Raceland, Framingham, on Thursday afternoon.

The 30th running of the Country Club Grand Annual Steeplechase, fifth race tomorrow, is the big event of the p. m. A fast field is entered, including Flavia, owned by the Goddards, Hildford, and Miss Dorothy Neyhart's Iolan, each winners in Saturday's races.

The opening race tomorrow is the Gorton, for three-year-olds and up for a purse of $500. The race is on the flat and over a distance of about six furlongs.

Alchemist, of the Eastland Farms stable, A. F. Goodall, Jr., of the Dorchester stable, and the Eastland Farms stable, are among the favorites in the race.

Sun Forward Primed for Win in Second

Sun Forward is one of the fast horses in the Quaker, second on the card, an affair on the flat, over the mile and one-half distance.

Mrs. Victor Zimmet's horse is in fine shape and primed to go after the victory in the run.

Vocell, Eastland Farms stable, W. A. Phillips' Sator, Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Stick Around and Charles P. Adams' Pug are likely to be near the front in the third race, the Eastern Horse Club steeple.

Solman, Louis Liggett's great horse, is a good choice in the fourth race, the National Hunt Club chase. The Jacobus Hill steeplechase is eighth and last of the day. Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's B. H. Holden Crowell of Boston, and Dorchester stables Bangs are some of the fast races in this windup brush.

Datura to Carry Top Weight of 149 Lbs.

Weights for the entries in tomorrow's races at The Country Club, Brookline, the closing meeting of the Eastern Horse Club's season, were announced this morning by Judge Frank J. Bryan.

New York, official New York racing secretary of the National Horse and Steeplechase Association.

The weights have Iolan, Dorothy Neyhart's winner of the Lambert Memorial steeplechase on last Saturday listed at 145 pounds with Rock stable Datura down for top weight of 149 pounds.

Rock of Castel, another Essex stable horse, and Old Mill, owned by Greene have been given 150 pounds to carry in the National Hunt Club steeplechase, the first race for gentlemen riders over a distance of three miles.

The Boston high school championship will be settled this week. English high, despite the fact that it had to forfeit two games, still is the likely champion.

It has sort of clinched its claim by its victory over Commerce and it wins from Memorial in a post-game, while the other two, some time this week, it will be a close thing. All other schools have lost at least two games.

Memorial will play Merchants Arts. Trade will play South Boston. Plain, Charlestown plays South Boston. Plain and South Boston will meet on Saturday. Plain and Merchants Arts will meet on Sunday.

MRS. COOLIDGE GETS DEGREE AT VERMONT

Rutland, Vt., June 16 (AP)—The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge, wife of former President Calvin Coolidge, by the University of Vermont at commencement exercises today.

For Mrs. Coolidge it was almost a home-coming, for she is an alumna of the university. Ten years ago her husband, then governor of Massachusetts and a candidate for the vice-presidency, was given the same honorary degree. He accompanied her today.

Bachelor and advanced degrees were conferred upon more than 50 students and five other persons besides Mrs. Coolidge received honorary degrees.

Hugh Douglass Hart of Philadelphia and Justice Leighton F. Black of Montpelier received the degree of Doctor of Laws. Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal Church, New York, was given the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters; Dr. George L. Shattuck of Providence, R. I., the degree of Master of Arts; and J. Royal Kinney, Boston, the honorary award of Mechanical Engineer.

GRADUATE'S DILEMMA
Before a throng of relatives and friends that overflowed the Arena, President Marsh awarded diplomas to 148 seniors from the university's 19 schools and colleges. Seniors of this year's class, exceeding by 406 that of last year, received 26 different types of degrees awarded for study and research in special fields.

Forming at 9:45, the procession of graduates in cap and gown, led by trustees, university officials and faculty members under the direction of the chief marshal, Prof. Irving C. Whitcomb, marched into the Arena at 10:15 to the music of the Boston University orchestra. Two honorary degrees recipients opened and closed the program, Bishop Andrew, and Bishop-elect Henry Knox Sherrill.

Calling upon the graduates to follow the plans of the high school, and discussing the three chief problems which the graduate is bound to meet at the beginning of his complete activity in the field of affairs, President Marsh of DePaul delivered the commencement address on "The Graduates' Dilemma."

The young graduate's dilemma has three aspects: intellectual, ethical and religious, he said.

The graduate enters a world where there are all too many who fight to defend a life, he said.

In choosing the ethical foundation of his life, the graduate must range himself eventually with one of two possible groups, he said.

One group is that of the "haves," the graduates who have the right, the power, the prestige and the position, he said.

The other group is that of the "have-nots," the graduates who have the right, the power, the prestige and the position, he said.

In service, giving him the realization that he cannot serve both God and mammon.

Doctor of Laws

Rutland, Vt., June 16 (AP)—The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge, wife of former President Calvin Coolidge, by the University of Vermont at commencement exercises today.

For Mrs. Coolidge it was almost a home-coming, for she is an alumna of the university. Ten years ago her husband, then governor of Massachusetts and a candidate for the vice-presidency, was given the same honorary degree. He accompanied her today.

Bachelor and advanced degrees were conferred upon more than 50 students and five other persons besides Mrs. Coolidge received honorary degrees.

Hugh Douglass Hart of Philadelphia and Justice Leighton F. Black of Montpelier received the degree of Doctor of Laws. Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal Church, New York, was given the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters; Dr. George L. Shattuck of Providence, R. I., the degree of Master of Arts; and J. Royal Kinney, Boston, the honorary award of Mechanical Engineer.

Smithy Is Raked Over the Coals by Commandant on Driving in Late

BEDROOM is in darkness. Toah and the others are already asleep. I stumble over shoes and finally find the matches.

HOW THE STORY STARTS
Helen Smith, known as "Smithy," is a member of the English women's ambulance corps in France. Her first convoy duty was a nightmare, and it had not been for Toah, a fellow-worker, she would have collapsed. She returned to a hardy soldier's mood, half dead with fatigue and half-dead in nerves. Toah, the son of an earl, the roughest, most love-girt in the unit. Only Toah's shocking war vocabulary can adequately describe their pitiful situation. Their tyrannical commandant she has christened "Mrs. Hick." Smithy, Toah, The B. F. Skinner, Rita Potato and The Dog share one room. A bath is out of the question, for there is only one pot of water among them. Days of dread follow—trench raids of form and bleeding human beings. Smithy's thoughts go to her mother, who knows nothing of war but recruiting stations, parades and the waving of flags.

CHAPTER 5

THREE ack emms. I am in the last ambulance home—which means no hot coals. My luck has been dead out this convoy. The others struck it fairly easy, but I started off badly. I got Number Thirteen Hospital at the station gate, not only the farthest out of camp, but the one on top of the hill with a rough, detestable, badly-winding road dotted with regular heaps of snow-covered stones, hard enough to negotiate by daylight, but hell to drive up in the dark at the crawl with a load of wounded on a pitch black night when the slightest jay may mean death to a man inside.

Loathe No. 13

Smithy Draws It

We all loathe drawing Number Thirteen, and an audible sigh of relief always goes up from a driver when the sergeant on duty gives her any other number.

It would be my luck to get it on a night when the roads are so ice-polluted the wheels seem to be skating—no grip at all—and the wind is blowing a gale. It nearly turned the old bus turtle as we unexpectedly caught the full force at the summit on my first trip.

Next journey I was too fed up to care. This was not my lucky night with a vengeance. I was carrying a spotted fever case which meant that after I had been unloaded in the front entrance of Number Thirteen I had to have the ambulance disinfectant and myself sprayed until I smelt like a newly-scrubbed public lavatory.

This precaution always seems to me a little late, considering that spotted fever cases are put in indisinfectant with five or six non-infectious sitters and stretchers for the journey to the hospital, which is not to be wondered at, considering the fiendish rush at the station when a big convoy arrives.

Disinfecting over, I dimmed headlights and drove downhill at a terrific pace to make up lost time, but my luck was again out. Commandant saw me drive in the yard. "Where had I been? What did I mean slackening in this disgraceful manner? Spotted fever case? Oh. (Slightly disconcerted but by no means squashed.) No excuse.

I should have been back a

Bacon and Saltontall Select Four Committeemen; Governor to Appoint Three Others

Senator Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham and Representatives Abraham B. Casson of Boston, William F. Thomas, Jr. of Fall River and William P. Corbett of Somerville were today named to the special commission which will investigate professional boxing and wrestling by President Gaspar G. Bacon of the Senate and Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of the House.

Three more appointees to the commission will be named by Governor Allen, probably Wednesday. The investigation is the result of more than a dozen bills filed at the last session of the Legislature. Representative Slater Washburn of Worcester, leader of the group seeking an inquiry, charged that many boxing and wrestling bouts were "in the bag" before the contests started.

In addition to naming the boxing and wrestling commission, President Bacon and Speaker Saltonstall have also named a committee for a number of other special commissions which the Legislature created.

NAME OTHER COMMITTEES. They were: For the further study of a mail terminal in the eastern part of the State: Senator Charles W. Johnston, Worcester; Representatives Horace T. Cahill, Bristol; Martin Swanson, Worcester; Daniel J. Coakley, Chicago. There are to be named by the Governor.

To investigate the future policy of the State relative to taking over and maintenance by the State of bridges on main through routes and on the construction of a bridge from Hull across the harbor to South Boston: House Speaker George W. Whitman, and Robert E. Hickey, South Boston; Representatives Eliot Wadsworth, Boston; Edward J. Sandberg, Quincy; Richard H. Stacy, Springfield; Arthur L. Youngman, Medford; Leo M. Birmingham, Brighton. Four to be named by the Governor.

TAX LAW CHANGES. To investigate changes in the state law: Sen. Frank R. Fay, Brockton; Reps. Earl E. Perry, Belmont; Arthur L. Burgess, Cambridge. Three to be appointed by the Governor.

To investigate the supreme court, the land court and the register of deeds: Senator J. Bradford Davis, Haverhill; Reps. Henry L. Shattuck, Boston; Fred L. Butler, Boston; Luke D. Mullen, Charlestown.

Young Couple Wed in School Romance
A high school romance resulted in a pretty wedding yesterday when Helen Zablazka, 19, of Dorchester, became the bride of William Marshall, 20. The ceremony was performed at St. Mary's Church, South Boston, and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride on Bellflower st., Dorchester.

DETAILED NEW WATER MAIN IN CHSELSEA
Seek Completion of Work to Eliminate Fire Peril to 20,000

A petition, containing several hundred signatures of Chelsea citizens residing in the Mill Hill, Bellingham and Highland districts, asking that work on the laying of Eastern ave. water pipes be speeded up, has been presented to the Chelsea Board of Aldermen.

More than 20,000 people live in these sections, almost all in wooden dwellings. Work on the Eastern ave. pipe laying was started almost two years ago during the Quigley administration, when $100,000 was appropriated to lay the large water main, connected to the Metropolitan water supply to supply adequate fire protection to these congested districts.

MONEY EXHAUSTED. Last January, when Mayor Whelan was elected, it was discovered that the original appropriation was almost exhausted, and practically no work other than the digging of the trench had been done.

Since that time several bids asking for additional money to finish the project, have been introduced to the Chelsea board of aldermen, but through disapproval in their ranks the matter has been hanging fire and no work has been done.

FIRE MENACE. Officials of the city have declared that the money storage tanks, containing millions of gallons of gasoline, the several shoe factories and printing plants located on and in the vicinity of Eastern ave., together with the congested living quarters, constitute one of the worst fire menaces in the history of the city.

Several serious automobile accidents have also occurred on Eastern ave., as the dirt thrown up by the digging of the pipe trench and the raked water pipes lay along the side of the road, taking up fully one-third of the road surface.

Alleged Chinese Holdup Men Return
Two cousins, alleged by police to be the first Chinese holdup men ever known in this city, were brought back here yesterday from Chicago on indictment warrants charging them with attempted robbery while armed. It is alleged they are two of three men who held up a clerk in the Sun Yuen Hank Co., 4 Tyler st., Chinatown, on April 23. The men are May Quong Yin, 22, and Moy G. Chun, 21, both of Tyler st. They will be arraigned in superior court tomorrow.

Library 'Wild Revel' Only a Drink Bout

The alleged Bacchanalian revelry at the Boston Public Library, in which undressed mixed bathing and dancing was said to have figured, today simmered down to a plain drinking bout among several men.

According to a statement from official sources, two night trippers, who have since been suspended, became intoxicated on duty and invited several men friends to sit and drink with them in the courtyard.

The statement declared there were no women in the party, no dancing, no empty bottles, and no damage that required as little as one cent to repair.

A week ago Friday, said the statement, "the trustees were notified that a watchman and a janitor had got drunk that evening and allowed friends into the courtyard. They walked on the grass but did no damage."

"Because they were unauthorized persons it was considered sufficient cause for suspension, but no action was taken until Librarian Charles F. B. Belden returned from New York on Tuesday."

"Informed of what had happened Librarian Belden ordered the two men suspended pending

Six Suspects Arrested; Grudge Against Teachers Charged by Police

Because of a grudge against teachers of Plummer grammar school, East Boston, a score of boys 11 to 13 years old went on the warpath in Indian costumes last week and destroyed school records and property valued at $1500, according to a report made public by police today. Six boys were arrested and will appear in Court Monday morning on Wednesday charged with breaking and entering and damage to property.

DETROIT PIANOS. The chief acts of vandalism were destruction of all the keys on the six school pianos, smashing a violin and records, throwing around and breaking 64 inkwells and burning part of the teachers' yearly report.

Gaining entrance by breaking open a door, the boys entered the school pianos, smashing a violin and records, throwing around and breaking 64 inkwells and burning part of the teachers' yearly report.

Next they turned attention to the two pianos in the main hall, smashing them and 100 pianos that were to have been used for a stereopticon show were smashed.

TEACHERS' REPORTS. The boys sought out the yearly reports in the desks of several teachers, set them afire and then closed the drawers, thereby saving a jigsaw or puzzle and bottles of ink.

The loss of the reports is disturbing to the teachers as they are now unable to properly grade their pupils.

Cambridge's Guest to Arrive Today

When his Worship Harry Franklin, mayor of Cambridge, England, arrives in Cambridge today for his Tercentenary visit, he will be warmly but quietly welcomed. The visitor will not be asked to reach him during the day, but Judge Gillespie sentenced him to report at the jail at 6 o'clock each evening and to stay there until 7 a m.

The part-time sentence was pronounced when Justice told the court he thought it would help him to abide by his resolve to provide for his wife and children.

CORBES LOOKS

FOR RISE IN MARKET

By A. C. FORBES

New York, June 18.—Not a cheer-week. Developments in business are mostly on the side of the pessimists. Developments in the stock market were mostly on the side of the optimists.

As a result of the pessimism of the business men, the stock market is nearly, though not quite, at the half of its peak. The year is ending disappointingly.

With faith and improvement come in.

second half of the year still widely expected. Only a fourth of the year is left. B. C. Forbes quarter mentioned more frequently likely to mark the definite turn-point in general activity, although it is predicted by many that recovery in stocks will be met in time then.

the most discussed event of last week was the indorsement of the bill by the Senate's 44-42 vote. Unmistakenly, opposition to the measure had become far more widespread and far more outspoken during recent weeks. Press, public, financial magnates, bankers, theoreticians, all had been busy foreign countries apparently are limited to follow their voiced hostility by action. Cable sources leading European copper buyers are arranging to transfer many of their orders as possible to other than American sources. This may be lightly characterized merely as a gesture, since European buyers have not purchased copper from us because they loved it but because it was good business to do so. Nevertheless, the sentiment unquestionably signifies a bitter feeling aroused throughout the world by our tariff masons. After all, enmity on the part of customers is not conducive to building up of business rela-the beat of the deal meted by Washington. While there occasion for profound regret, it is not occasion for panic. It is the financial development, not from moderate weakness in loans, were officially reduced to 100 per cent, time money was available for short periods at as low as commercial paper was done as low as 2 1/2 per cent and short-dates as low as 1 1/2 per cent. There were times when many of funds could not be rented out. The Federal Reserve Bank's ratio of reserve increased. The German reparations bond offering was immediately oversubscribed and fabricated and ably above the issue price of $100. Several U. S. government securities have climbed to new peaks for the year.

The leaven of extremely cheap money cannot fail to have a stimulating influence by and by on the oil industry, on stocks and, ultimately, on interstate and general business. As dear money more than anything else which stunts last year's rigid tide of activity, Cheap money will unquestionably play its part in starting the country on a new course.

pansion of Shell, Sun and other companies and other states bordering the Ohio and the lakes is in its announcement that it will build refineries at Pittsburgh, Akron and Toledo, the petro-products from which will be distributed throughout the territory. It is well provided with plants to meet requirements of the plants and will transport the material by a new pipe line company, in which Gulf subsidiaries, Gulpho Gypsum Oil Co., have a production.

In Price of Copper,
New York, June 16 (AP)—A region of 25 points in the export of copper was made today by Exporters, Inc., bringing the level of the market to 12.30 cents a pound, or 1.5 European base metal.
The cut was the second made by exporters in the last few days, the export price having been reduced from 13 cents to 12.55 Saturday after custom smelters had before had lowered the domestic price to 12 and 12 1/4 cents de-

Zenith Report Out

It is a joke on these rough French roads, sometimes snowing, sometimes windy, and sometimes raining. Both the snow and the rain drip down your collar and wet you to the skin, but the wind cuts your face to pieces until your lips bleed—it is difficult.

It would be easy enough to make a few extra jugs in order to allow everyone to have a second cup if necessary, but no Commandant's rules once made are as unalterable as the walls of the city.
